Ore of this kind has been but slightly developed in the Tularosa district, and how extensive its distribution is through the sandstone formation is not known. The known occurrences are not far distant from the outcrop of diorite porphyry. The ores in the limestone and the diorite porphyry have been developed only at the Virginia mine. These rocks are cut by veinlets and stringers of quartz, dolomite, and barite that carry more or less chalcocite, with a very little pyrite and chalcopyrite. Many of the veinlets are drusy and in them some of the minerals are well crystallized. The quartz develops in perfectly clear short hexagonal prisms terminated at both ends by pyramids; some of these crystals are more than half an inch long. Dolomite, which is the most plentiful gangue mineral, occurs mostly in small rhombohedrons that are almost cubes; in places the much curved crystal faces characteristic of the mineral are seen. Dolomite also occurs in the wholly filled veins in granular aggregates, showing a rude banding parallel to the walls. Barite does not assume regular external form, but is developed in slightly radiating plates, some of them an inch or more across; in places the mineral is pinkish. Chalcocite is present, ranging from minute grains sprinkled very sparingly through the gangue minerals to solid veinlets several inches wide, accompanied by insignificant quantities of gangue. In the druses the small grains observed appear to have a certain regularity...
