Not indexed. Not illustrated. 1900. Excerpt: . . . men get little enough at present. Surely every case that is prevented diminishes by a definite amount the total fees paid to the profession by the people. Do not such boards threaten our private interests just as the municipal ownership of water and gas plants interferes with the private interests of the stockholders of such corporations Then why is it that of all classes of people the medical profession is the most zealous in its advocacy of this measure Is it because we think that the board will be just efficient enough and not too efficient Is it because in protecting others we protect ourselves and our families from diseases which have caused a large mortality in our ranks Is it because we think that by preventing the children from dying of diphtheria and scarlet fever and smallpox we will save them to dyspepsia...
